

Search

Key words :

02-05-14Publication

ANSES publishes its comments on the draft opinion of EFSA on bisphenol A

January 17, 2014, EFSA has put in consultation its draft opinion on the risks assessment of health associated with bisphenol A (BPA) for the human population. As part of this project, more than 450 studies on the potential risks...

[\[next\]](#)

24-01-14Publication

EFSA announces the consultation of its draft opinion on BPA

EFSA launched since January 17, 2014 the consultation of its draft opinion on the assessment of health risks associated with exposure to bisphenol A (BPA). More than 450 scientific studies on the potential risks to the human...

[\[next\]](#)

15-09-13Regulations

Review proposal for the classification of bisphenol A (BPA)

A proposal to revise the classification of BPA was presented by France to ECHA (European Chemical Agency). It relates to the reclassification of BPA of the category 2 to category 1B. Consequently, ECHA has opened a consultation...

[\[next\]](#)

20-08-13Publication

Estimate of BPA exposure by EFSA in its draft scientific opinion

According to an estimate in the EFSA draft opinion published on 25 July 2013, the average exposure to BPA resulting from feeding infants up to 3 months is 135 ng / kg bw / day (nanogram per kilogram of body weight per day)....

[\[next\]](#)

25-07-13Publication

EFSA extends the publication of its opinion on BPA

EFSA has announced a further delay in adopting its final scientific opinion on bisphenol A (BPA). The notice must be originally published in May 2013, but was then delayed until November 2013. Finally, EFSA decided to extend that...

[\[next\]](#)

Displaying results 1 to 5 out of 69

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 Next >